Presto! It's Gone
The Night That 3-D
Came to Our Town

The Third District Stock Show has come and gone, but there's a private report on the magicians who appeared in Galaxy of Stars, which entertained on the Coliseum stage last Monday and Tuesday.

You recall he was the fellow who caused a radio to vanish from view while the music lingered on. Well, I hear that our magician suffered from hay fever and went to a local druggist to buy a remedy. Next day he was back at the store. "Lost the bottle," he explained.

Your editor was up all hours Saturday night curious about the job the Saenger theater management was proposing to do without shutting the house down for a couple of days. Edna Coffman, local manager for the M. S. McCord theater system, was going to show the first three-dimensional picture here — and he not only had to install a new high-reflecting screen but also synchronize the two projectors.

That's a large order to carry between one midnight and the next afternoon.

I should explain that 3-D pictures require two films running simultaneously in two projectors, one picture representing what the left eye sees, the other picture for the right eye. The result viewed on the screen without polarized glasses is blurred, of course; but with polarized filters over the projector lenses and matching polarized glasses on the patron's nose the result is sensational.

The picture is "The Charge at Feather River," which would be top-notch entertainment with or without 3-D. But the added depth of vision gives some spectacular effects: Either you're looking down into the dizzy depths of a Western canyon, or dodging the oncoming spears and arrows of war-rampaging Indians.

The huge new curved screen gives the illusion mightily. Although the current picture requires use of polarized glasses you will eventually see Cinemascope and similar films on the same screen without glasses.

The way the Saenger crew overcame their conversion problem for 3-D was this: They put the new screen in Friday night, and then went to work on the projectors as soon as the theater emptied Saturday night. They put a "target film" through both projectors simultaneously, each film having a letter 'X' in the center of the frame and the idea was to make these "X's" coincide on the screen. . . . 113 feet away.

It's a good job for a long night. They ran the first half of "The Charge at Feather River" by 4 o'clock Sunday morning, made further adjustments, and finished the last half by 5:30 — and it was perfect. Normally there is an intermission of a few minutes between the first and second halves of a 3-D picture, because, both projectors being in use, both have to be stopped and reloaded with film for the second half.

The film is in 5,000-foot lengths, giant magazines being loaded on each machine to a normal magazine holds only 2,000 feet.

Each of the two machines are geared together with a flexible interlock which resembles a speedometer cable out of an automobile. But this particular cable costs $150 — and they guard it with their lives.

Stock Show Is Successful Financially

The 9th Annual Third District Livestock Show ended Saturday after playing before the largest crowds ever to attend. An estimate placed the week's attendance at between 25,000 and 30,000 persons, although there is no way to check accurately with a gate counter.

In practically every respect the show was the best ever held with the largest poultry division in history. Although the number of livestock was lower the quality was the highest yet.

Only one incident marred the six-day affair. About 5:30 a.m. Sunday the Motorcycle Arcade caught fire and burned to the ground. The blaze was believed to have resulted from faulty wiring and an unconfirmed report said the sideshow had caught fire earlier in the week. Firemen were able to prevent the blaze from spreading.

Stock Show Secretary Bob Daniels reported this morning that the show was the best financially in its history. We had the best profit this year, he said, however, indicated that the gross was not the largest.

Church of Christ Meet to Start

Allen B. Harper, well known radio and television evangelist, will begin a Gospel Meeting at the Church of Christ, South Walnut Street, Hope, Arkansas, tonight at 7:30, and will continue each evening through October 14. The subject for discussion this evening will be "Crying for Ointment." The public is invited to attend.

Hempstead Grand Jury Reports

Civil and criminal cases will be heard by Judge Lyle Brown in Hempstead Circuit Court this week and next. The grand jury was in session this morning and turned in the following report:

The Hempstead County Grand Jury has been in session on the 5th day of October, 1953, and submits herewith its first report:

We are not at this time aware of any law violations requiring our attention. The Prosecuting Attorney reports that several Informations, or charges, have recently been filed direct in Circuit Court covering all criminal matters brought to his attention. So for the time being we are returning no Indictments.

As suggested by the Court, we have formed three committees which will function throughout our term of office, which is for a period of six months. The membership and duties of these committees are as follows:

Committee on Law Enforcement
This committee is composed of men from various sections of the county who will keep the Grand Jury posted on law-enforcement in the various communities and will receive any enforcement complaints from private citizens. J. J. Wilson is chairman and Mrs. Chester Hall, Monroe Samuels, W. H. Etter and Frank Douglas are the other members.

Committee on Public Property
This committee will inspect the condition and management of the public property of the county, including county buildings, fixtures, all other physical assets. Guy Green records, machinery, equipment and is chairman and W. A. Abbott, Truman Hill, Thomas Jones and K. G. Rateliff are the other members.

Committee on Public Monies and Finance
This committee will inspect the audits and records of all county officials who handle public money. A. A. Albritton is chairman and W. O. Beene, K. E. Ambrose, Clarence Gilbert and Mrs. D. K. Dickerson are the other members.

It will be the responsibility of the Foreman of the Grand Jury to see that these committees function and that committee reports are filed. If the investigations of either of these committees, or if information furnished us by private citizens warrant the calling of the entire body, we will request that the Grand Jury be reconvened. After the chairman of the respective committees have made their reports the Foreman will confer with the Court relative to the necessity of another meeting of the entire Grand Jury.

This report is approved by the Grand Jury and respectfully submitted to the Court, with the request that we be recessed subject to call.

Army Likely to Feel the Budget Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may be hardest hit of the three armed forces when budget makers start putting down appropriation recommendations for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Defense Department money experts cautioned today that this cannot be decided definitely until the Joint Chiefs of Staff submit their estimates of the size of forces and types of operation needed for the year. That report, now overdue, is expected within the next week or two.

However, those familiar with the show were the best ever held with the largest poultry division in history. Although the number of livestock was lower the quality was the highest yet.

Only one incident marred the six-day affair. About 5:30 a.m. Sunday the Motorcycle Arcade caught fire and burned to the ground. PRAYERS FOR KIDNAPED BOY — Students at Kansas City's Holy Name School offer prayers for kidnaped Bobby Greenlease, 6, during a daily prayer program over a Kansas City radio station. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Greenlease, Bobby was kidnaped by an auburn-haired woman, who claimed she was his aunt, from exclusive Notre Dame de Bon School, and no trace of the child or his abductor has so far been found. Rev. R. J. Conway, front, left, Holy Name Church pastor, leads the children in prayer. Other priests are Rev. R. A. Kilbride, left, and Rev. J. W. Sherman. Dallas Police Hold Suspect in Rape Case

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Police arrested a Negro man on a charge of raping a Negro woman but said today they doubted he is the kidnaper who has killed one woman and raped several others.

The woman told police the man was taking her home from a tavern when he stopped the car, hit her over the head and carried her down an embankment. She said he hit her and raped her.

Meanwhile, police kept a radio equipped helicopter with powerful searchlights in readiness in case the prowler is actually sighted. Some 215 radio cars patrol the city each night.

Police have questioned more than 100 suspects since Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, was found raped and dying of a cut throat under a bridge Wednesday night.

Before she died, Mrs. Parker told a policeman: "A Negro took me under the bridge and cut me."

U. S., Russia Likely in Atom Stalemate

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U. S. policy makers believe the United States and Russia are approaching an atomic stalemate.

Some think this may tend to stabilize relationships of the big powers and so contribute to development of more peaceful relations, however uneasy.

At the same time, foreign policy experts believe a situation approaching a diplomatic stalemate, perhaps influenced by the shifting military power balance but more likely by other factors, is already at hand.

State Department officials generally believe the Soviets are actively avoiding any real negotiations concerning Germany now and will do so for many months to come. They question whether the Reds want to talk serious about the Far East, although their position is relatively stronger there.

The combination of an atomic stalemate, if it becomes an accepted fact in great power policies, and a diplomatic standoff might very well freeze the present state of relationships indefinitely even without any formal East-West agreements to that effect.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional study group today reported deeper economy cuts in the federal payroll, but hinted at surprises in store when the number of foreigners hired overseas is disclosed.

The report was released by the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, headed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.).

It showed another drop in the officially reported number of civilians employed by executive agencies and the armed services at home and abroad — this time a net decline of 23,502 in the month of August.

The end-of-July total of 2,454,714 employees itself had represented a net decrease of 14,926 from June, it added.

The report said that, while the total is supposed to show all civilian government employees inside and outside the continental United States, "there is a vast number of foreign nationals working for U. S. agencies overseas still unreported." Most of them, it said, work for the armed services.

Trouble Brews in Ranks of Republicans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican unity gave signs of developing cracks at high levels today, with some indications that President Eisenhower may have to take a hand to restore harmony.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) jolted administration officials with a week-end announcement that the Senate Appropriations Committee probably will call Foreign Operation Administrator Harold E. Staggon on the carpet to explain what Bridges called "capricious" job firings in his agency.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, made it clear that he will oppose a proposal by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) to make the chairman of 15 regular legislative committee members of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Bridges' statement, issued at his office here, gave something of a Republican endorsement to frequently voiced Democratic complaints that dismissals of federal employees had—as Bridges put it—"worked inequities on personnel and had impaired the efficiency of the organization."

Staggon's aides replied that in firing workers they were only following the rules laid down by Congress itself.

Pine Bluff Deputy Shot to Death

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — Jefferson County Deputy Sheriff Fortune Crowder was shot to death near here early today as he was returning from an assignment.

Sheriff Allen Nixon learned the "most brutal murder in this county in many years." Nixon did not say what Crowder's assignment was.

The body of the 39-year-old Negro deputy was found in his automobile which had run into a ditch, Nixon said.

The lights and ignition still were on. Nixon set the time for the slaying at between midnight and 2 a.m.

By condition of the body, Nixon said, "it was apparent that a shotgun had been fired from point blank range."

Nixon said Crowder apparently was driving south toward his home when another car pulled alongside and fired two shots through an open window of Crowder's car. Nixon said he has offered a $100 reward for information leading to arrest of the murderer. Crowder joined the sheriff's office in 1940, but resigned several years ago. He returned to work about 18 months ago on Nixon's request.

Nixon said he had no leads on the slaying.

Says People Willing to Pay High Tax

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.) declared today about the state of national defense the American people are worried and stand ready to continue paying high taxes to build it up.

If the Republicans think they must cut taxes in order to please the people, they are mistaken," said Jackson, a former member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

His statement, in an interview, was in harmony with an assertion by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), now chairman of the committee, that he is "ready to surrender" the principle of a balanced budget.

Cole was asked on an NBC television interview yesterday if the American people would favor trying to balance the budget if they

Hurricane Loses Some of Force

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — The year's seventh hurricane, far from land and shipping lanes, has degenerated into 45-mile-an-hour squalls, the Weather Bureau reported today.

The storm, named "Gail" in the new Weather Bureau naming system, held 90-mile-an-hour winds yesterday.

In an 11 a. m. advisory, the San Juan, Puerto Rico, Weather Bureau said:

"Ship reports received this morning indicated that hurricane 'Gail' apparently has degenerated into a squally wave. At 11 a. m., the area of greatest activity is an oblong wave. . . (with) maximum winds estimated to be 45 miles an hour in squalls."

"This will be the last advisory to be issued on this storm unless redevelopment occurs."

The advisory located the storm some 2,000 miles from Miami and about 810 miles east of Guadalupe Island in the French Antilles.

ROK Plot to Free Prisoners Threat to Peace

By FRANK JORDAN

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — South Korean army sources barred today a plot to free 22,500 anti-Communist prisoners from Indian custody and the Reds warned that a mass escape would "blow up" the truce.

The ROKs notified the Indians through the Eighth Army that Provoost Marshal Lt. Gen. Won Yung Duk was planning to carry out the plot even if it led to an armed clash between South Koreans and Indians.

It was Won who almost wrecked the Korean truce last June 18 by permitting 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners to flee Alled compounds under unilateral orders from President Syngman Rhee.

South Korean political leaders called upon civilians to attend mass meetings Tuesday and protest the "barbarous" Indian handling of anti-Communist prisoners. Rhee's government ordered school children to take a holiday Tuesday and march to demonstration centers.

Quick End to Dock Strike Anticipated

NEW YORK (AP) — Anticipated U. S. government action today would bring a quick end to an economy-crippling strike of longshoremen from Maine to Virginia.

A special three-man presidential board of inquiry was expected to deliver to the White House by early afternoon a report containing findings indicating whether the walkout is endangering the nation's welfare.

The report to President Eisenhower will make no specific recommendation but almost certainly will result in his asking the Department of Justice to seek in federal court an 80-day injunction under the Taft-Hartley law.

It is possible that an injunction could be obtained and served by tonight. Leaders of the striking International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) have said they will instruct their men to obey such a court order.

Iran to Back Law Outlawing Communists

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's government warned today it is going to enforce the four-year-old outlawing of the communist Tudeh Party with the death penalty if necessary.

The tough anti-Red talk came from Chief Prosecutor Hossein Ardebil, whose forces yesterday made public a 20-page indictment that could bring the death by hanging of the communists' former chief ally, ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

After weeks of questioning, Mossadegh was formally charged with trying to overthrow Iran's monarchy and inciting the defiance of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi which boomeranged to bring the premier's downfall.

Mossadegh during most of his 25 months in office allowed the 1949 decree unchecked, despite the 1949 decree outlawing it. In return, the Reds swelled the support of the premier's oil nationalization program and his subsequent near-dictatorship.

Convicted Slayer Gets New Trial

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today ordered a new trial for Doyle N. Whitten, convicted of slaying a young man he found with his estranged wife.

The court said the Hot Spring Circuit Court trial judge was wrong in permitting a state policeman to testify to part of a statement made by Whitten but not to the rest of it.

Whitten was sentenced to two years on conviction of voluntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Johnny Elmore on Sept. 21, 1952.

The state contended Whitten walked outside his father-in-law's house in a rural section of Hot Spring County until Elmore and Mrs. Whitten arrived in a truck.

The shooting followed but Whitten declared that it was unintentional. He said his foot slipped into a small ditch and a weapon he was carrying discharged accidentally.

State Policeman Clarence Montgomery was called by the prosecution at the trial to testify that Whitten had told him he shot Elmore.

Beautiful Rain Comes to Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Beautiful rain and soothing cool temperatures descended on Arkansas today, wetting down some powder dry forests and pastures which had been explosive to the slightest spark.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said northwest Arkansas reaped most of the benefits from the rain, but other sections of the state got at least a trace.

Fred Lang, chief of the Arkansas Forestry Department, said the rain had "pretty well taken care of fires in north Arkansas," but he added that south Arkansas points reported only a trace of rain and "things could break loose" in that section.

Lang said 47 fires involving 138 acres broke out over the weekend but all had been put out.

The Weather Bureau said that as of 8 a. m. today, Ruliff had recorded the high rainfall of 1.92 inches.

Other precipitation included Malvern, 1.80; Ozark, 1.73; Berryville, 1.03; Fort Smith, .18; Fayetteville, .08; Pine Bluff and Arkadelphia, .01; Little Rock, .20; Camden, .17; Newport, .11; Batesville, .29; Pocahtonis, .03; and Walnut Ridge, .18.

With the rainfall came welcome cooler temperatures with Fayetteville the coldest spot at 54.

Other lows included Filippin, 50; Walnut Ridge, 60; Fort Smith and Batesville, 60; Ozark, 61; Newport, 62; Dardanelle, 63; Morrilton, 64; Texarkana, 65; and 97 at Little Rock and Arkadelphia.

The forecast was for occasional showers today, ending tonight. Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Cooler tonight, high this afternoon of 72, low tonight 52-55.

Says Russia Leery of Reds in China

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU

NEW YORK (UP) — Earl Browder, one-time head of the U. S. Communist Party, said today he believes Russia is as anxious as the United States to keep Communist China out of the United Nations.

Browder said China could never escape from Soviet domination so long as it is isolated from the influence of the rest of the world.

He said he was sure the Russians knew that and suspected U. N. Delegate Andrei Vishinsky. "Is just as much opposed to China's acceptance in the U. N. as we are, but he doesn't have to say so because America says it for him."

"The Soviet Union doesn't have to isolate China; America does it for them. We got the blame and they get the credit for having tried to do the right thing."

Browder said the Russians themselves are "prisoners of their own system, and the world holds them there with the cold war which neither side seems to know how to stop."

The Kansas-born Browder, now 62, was kicked out of the U. S. Communist Party in 1955, after he had led it for 15 years, for his refusal to go along with "foreign methods. He said the Communist movement had failed in this country because "Democratic ideas proved more dynamic than Communist dogma."

He said the same American democracy could be "completely influenced" against Soviet domination in the Far East today. "But only if there is a drastic change in American foreign policy and the removal of political strings from the helping hand."

"We are strong and prosperous because of our freedoms," Browder said. "How can the world see that if our whole policy is putting the clamps on?"

Browder no longer calls himself a Communist but a "Democrat with a small D." He said he was "just as certain today as I ever was" that there must be "some sort of abolition of private ownership, but I think it has to come the American way—in harmony with our way of life."

FBI to Step Into Kansas Kidnap Case

By AL DOPKING

KANSAS CITY (AP) The wealthy parents of 6-year-old Bobby Greenhouse still cling today to the hope he would be returned safely as the kidnaping case entered its second week with the possibility the FBI may step in officially.

A day of silence by the family was broken by Paul Greenhouse, an adopted son. Asked if the family had any news about the kidnaping, he said: "I don't know anything about it."

"We'll just have to be patient," he added.

answered the door to the home late last night when newsmen knocked. They had come to talk with Robert Lettermann of Tulsa, business associate of Greenhouse and a family spokesman.

Paul was in his shirt sleeves, his collar unbuttoned and his hair askew. He looked tired. He was polite but reluctant to talk.

Throughout the day the Greenhouse household reported Lettermann either was sleeping or resting. But last night when newsmen called on him, Paul Greenhouse said he was not in the house. He did not say where he had gone. Lettermann, because of his close connection with the family, has been mentioned as a possible intermediary.

Shortly before midnight two Cadillac cars pulled out of the Greenhouse driveway and sped off into the night. Later one returned.

The first brick building at Harvard University was erected for Indiana students, but they did not make sufficient use of it, so it was converted into a printing shop.

Boat Overtakes, Driver Injured

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — Ralph Johnson, 30, of Blytheville, was injured seriously here when his overturned boat was struck by two racers in week-end National Outboard Association trials.

Johnson, whose arm was mangled by a propeller blade, is in a serious condition at Hot Springs Army-Navy General Hospital.

Other racers took up $500 for the injured driver's hospital care and his wife was flown here from Blytheville yesterday.

On an appeal from Malvern Municipal Court, Williams was convicted of the charge and sentenced to pay a $250 fine and served 100 days in jail on a charge of molesting an 11-year-old girl.

In reversing and remanding the case the Supreme Court said no evidence was offered to establish whether the offense occurred within a year before the date Williams was charged. If it did not take place within that period no conviction can be obtained on such a charge of any other misdemeanor, the court pointed out.

The court went through the formality of denying Grant Rubley Jr. a petition for release from the State Hospital. Rubley already has been released.

Rubley was charged in Hot Spring Circuit Court with burglary last March and was committed for a mental examination.

His father filed the petition, contending the defense had promised the question of sanity would not be raised at any trial on the burglary charge and hospital commitment was unlawful.

No effort was made to obtain an early hearing on the writ and before the Supreme Court acted on it today in the usual order of cases, Rubley had been found sane and dismissed.

The executive committee also made the following appointments: H. G. Partlow of Blytheville, judge advocate; Ed Eluken of Little Rock, finance officer; N. B. Weese of Little Rock, historian; Sam Crawford Jr. of El Dorado, sergeant at arms; Bill Otts of Little Rock and Frank Jordan of Fayetteville, assistant sergeants at arms.

Approval
of Warren
Is Predicted

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON — Substantial Senate approval was forecast today for President Eisenhower's appointment of Gov. Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

When the court opens its fall term here Monday, the big, smiling California Republican will don the chief justice's robes.

Hearing an unforeseen special session of Congress, the Senate will not act at least until January, when the regular session begins. But a Senate judiciary subcommittee, headed by Sen. Langer (R-ND), already is geared to consider the Warren nomination informally and report to the full committee.

Full committee approval of the nomination, perhaps even in advance of the Senate's reconvening in January, was suggested by the reception given announcement of the appointment.

Democrats joined with Republicans in praising the selection. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democrats' unsuccessful presidential nominee in 1952, said it was "an excellent appointment."

Sen. Kilgore (D-WV), a member of the judiciary subcommittee, said he regards the California governor as "a fine man, very capable and very broadminded."

Associate Justice Harold Burton, the only present Republican member of the court, said Warren "will make an admirable chief justice and I shall consider it a privilege to work with him."

Sen. Ives (R-NY) said he could foresee no difficulty in obtaining Senate approval, despite reports that some Republicans of more conservative were not highly pleased by the appointment.

Should the Senate reject Warren's nomination—a possibility that now seems highly remote—he would have to send another nomination to the Senate.

Warren will be the 14th chief justice and the second to take office on a recess appointment. The first so appointed was John Rutledge, who had served on the original court and was named chief justice by George Washington in 1795—only to have the nomination later rejected by the Senate after representations that Rutledge was mentally ill.

Warren will be the first chief justice from California.

Eisenhower told a White House news conference yesterday that ever since "my good friend," Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, died of a heart attack Sept. 8, he had been searching for a successor.

In a rare gesture, the President permitted his remarks to be quoted directly.

"I certainly wanted a man whose reputation for integrity, honesty, middle-of-the-road philosophy, experience in government, experience in the law, were all such as to convince the United States that here was a man who had no ends to serve except the United States. To my mind he is a man who will make a great chief justice, and so I selected him."

In Sacramento, Calif., the 62-old nominee announced he was accepting the appointment, would resign as governor as of midnight Sunday and be on hand here Monday to take the oath of office.

Preparing to turn over the governorship to Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Warren said:

"To be a member of this high court, and as such an interpreter and defender of the Constitution for all the people of the United States is the greatest obligation that could be assumed by any lawyer."

"I will apply myself to the task with the very best that is in me and will compensate for any limitations with industry and faithfulness to the cause of constitutional government in America."

Although Eisenhower tabbed him a middle-of-the-road, Warren generally is regarded as a "progressive" Republican whose proposals often went far beyond the bounds of national party platforms.

For instance, he was criticized by some Republicans for attempts to set up in California a compulsory health insurance system much like the one former President Truman sought nationally. Both attempts failed.

With Warren's appointment, Eisenhower gave comfort to those Republicans who generally regard themselves as "internationalists." Court observers voiced doubt that Warren's ascent to the bench would change the balance on that body now considered largely conservative.

(Boyle's Note: Well, I'll admit that many girls who pass as redheads today are more of a sight on some days than on others. But Rembrandt probably had his bad days, too.)

Why does every generation of man pick on the one that succeeds it? The reason probably is just the absent-mindedness of age. Folks who say this crop of teenagers is the worst in history are simply forgetting themselves.

The way many grownups act today you can't help but wonder if the 2 greatest differences between adults and adolescents aren't just time and pimples.

Our way of life is getting both simpler and more complex. If you forget to buy an item at the drugstore, you can always pick it up at the supermarket. Many drugs now are regarded as foods, and many foods are being enriched with drugs. The only thing separating the big grocery store from the big drug store is a gentleman's agreement that one can't fill prescriptions if the other refrains from selling raw meat.

While this does make shopping easier, it also makes for harder decisions at home. Where really does the vitamin-fortified bread belong — in the bathroom medicine cabinet beside the aspirin bottle, or in the kitchen chili box above the fresh vegetables? We pause for science's answer.

Once upon a time there was a man in a phone booth who completed his call and then by mistake had his dime returned. This fellow was so honest he put the dime right back in the coin box on the grounds it would be unfair to a big corporation if he kept it himself. That's one thing about fables. You can always tell what they are in the first four words.

A man who showers catsup on a restaurant hamburger before he even takes his first bite isn't necessarily either a good or bad judge of cooking. He may be just a fine judge of horseflesh.

Four Die
Violently
in Arkansas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least four persons died violently in Arkansas this weekend — two in Hazen — and a Pine Bluff chemical worker died in a Mississippi highway accident.

Mrs. Ethel Samples Stewart, about 70, of Fort Worth, was injured fatally when she was hit by a Rock Island train while walking to church at Hazen yesterday.

Mrs. Stewart was visiting her sister, Mrs. Leroy Weems, at Hazen.

Earlier this week end, a 9-year-old boy was wounded fatally near Hazen when he was struck by a .22 caliber bullet believed to have been fired a quarter mile from his farm home. Sheriff E. O. Hamilton said he believed the death of William B. Cunningham was an accident.

The boy was standing in the front yard of his parent's home and the bullet entered his back. Sheriff Hamilton is continuing his investigation.

Wants to End Engagement

Dear Miss Dix: Eighteen months ago I became engaged to a wonderful boy. He went overseas and has recently returned, expecting, of course, that we would be married shortly. For a long time, however, I have realized that my feelings toward him have changed. The hardest part is that the match has the unqualified approval of both families, and all our friends feel we are ideally suited to each other. I haven't been going out with anyone else, so the problem is not one of "another man." Naturally I hate to hurt the young man, or his family. What is the most tactful way of handling the situation? I'm 20, and he is a little older.

Return The Ring

Answer: Breaking an engagement is difficult and touchy from either side. Yet the easiest thing to do in the long run is the hardest at the beginning — a direct approach, and a clean break. Postponement only adds to the problem. For a time there will certainly be difficult moments, especially with the respective families, but they must try to understand that feelings can change. To carry on with an engagement when you know your love has gone, is hard on you, and cruel to the boy. The sooner you give the ring back, the sooner he can begin his own readjustment.

There is no diplomatic way to tell a man you no longer love him. Obviously he's going to be deeply hurt over losing you and no amount of finesse will ease the shock. In time he'll realize, and appreciate, the honesty and consideration you showed by not drawing the engagement out longer than was necessary after you decided it was a mistake. He'll recover completely in time, and so will you.

Dear Miss Dix: My 13-year-old sister has just entered high school, where she is a junior. She ignores every bit of advice I give her, and I'm sure if she keeps on she will be very unpopular. I try to tell her how to dress, and how to behave, but it's useless.

Answer: The only group more sure of itself than high-school juniors is high-school freshmen. Your sister's reactions are quite normal, and I suggest that you leave her alone instead of trying to run her life. High school is fun, as well as work, and the youngster has to find her own niche. Did anyone run behind you in freshman days with constant advice? And would you have appreciated it if someone had? Of course you would not, and your sister doesn't, either. In time she'll come to you for advice withhold it until then.

Dear Miss Dix: I belong to a

Claud T. Beatty, 36, of Pine Bluff was killed Saturday when the motorbike he was riding and a car collided on a Mississippi River bridge near Greenville, Miss.

Ex-Yerger Back Stars in College

Rheward Williamson, star quarterback and captain of last year's Yerger Tigers, proved to be the leading star in his high school by leading two touchdowns in his college debut as quarterback for ASM College of Pine Bluff as the Lions rolled over the Wildcats of Wiley College, Marshall, Texas, 19-0.

Weekend Grid Spotlight Goes to Dallas

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Another of those lightning collegiate doubleheaders makes Dallas football madhouse this week.

Southern Methodist plays Missouri and Texas meets Oklahoma all within the span of 20 hours.

It won't be quite up to the original doubleheader in 1950 that drew more than 130,000 into the Cotton Bowl — but it appears certain to put upwards of 125,000 into the big house.

Which would be second to the all-time record set by that 1950 affair which saw Texas playing Oklahoma in the afternoon and Southern Methodist meeting Oklahoma A&M at night.

This one, handling the Southwest Conference schedule for the week, has Southern Methodist clashing with Missouri Friday night and Texas and Oklahoma swapping touchdowns Saturday afternoon.

The Texas-Oklahoma game already is a sell-out, which means that the doubleheader will at least be second in the 1950 record.

These games are two of three big interconference contests scheduled for the Southwest Conference this weekend. The Conference already has a season record of eight victories against only three losses in games against outside teams.

Texas Christian, which opened the conference race last week by losing to Arkansas 13-0, plays Michigan State at Lansing, Mich., in the third interconference struggle.

Arkansas goes to Waco to meet Baylor in a conference game. Baylor is undefeated in two games this season, last week trimming Miami 21-13.

In other games Texas A & M plays Texas Tech at Lubbock, and Rice gets Hardin — Simpson's at Houston. The Aggies, who beat Georgia 14-12 last week, have two victories and one tie for the season. Rice, which strangled Cornell 28-7, is unbeaten in two games.

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's two undefeated, untied western conference teams clash in the No. 1 game of the week this Sunday when the Detroit Lions entertain the San Francisco 49ers.

Both have won two games. The defending champion Lions will be favored, but the 49ers are fresh from one upset and will be counting for another. Yesterday, Friday, they opened the Los Angeles Rams, 31-30, just six seconds before the end on a field goal by Gordon Soltau.

In other league action yesterday, the Cleveland Browns defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 27-7, and the Chicago Bears turned back the Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

The powerful Browns sit atop the eastern conference with two victories and no losses and the Philadelphia Eagles don't figure to shake them any undue worry this Friday.

In other action next Sunday, Baltimore visits the Chicago Bears, Los Angeles plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, the New York Giants Pittsburgh Steelers entertain the journey to Washington and the Chicago Cardinals.

The Union of South Africa has three capitals: Pretoria for the executive department, Cape Town for the legislature and Bloemfontein for the national judiciary.

by alert Porker backs. The game was another rough one in the bitterly contested Rough-Three Times for personal fouls and two of the Roughs were ejected by the officials for unnecessary roughness. Arkansas was penalized once on that count.

Moore and tailback Billy Pickens hurt their knees and blocking back Billy Proctor suffered a cracked rib. It was believed that all would be able to play against Baylor and that three Razorbacks who missed the TCU game — Jerry Bogard and Edson Nix and tailback Johnson Gunn — might come off the injured list this week.

TCU managed to stop fumbling long enough for an 80-yard touchdown march in the fourth quarter but altogether lost five fumbles and had five of its passes intercepted.

Bums Again in 'Do or Die' Position

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — It's almost a sure thing these days that the two World Series teams will play themselves one awful game along about Friday, the shortage of really good pitchers being what it is, and the Yankees and Dodgers turned their in yesterday.

The final score was 11-7 in favor of the Yankees, which meant that the American Leaguers went into today's sixth and possibly final game leading by three victories to two.

The four-time straight world champions were back in their own back in the Bronx with their crack young left-hander, Whitey Ford, on the mound. The Dodgers, needing desperately to win this one, were relying on their new World Series star, Carl Erskine.

Considering his brilliant exploit of only three days ago, when he fanned 14 Yankees and beat them by 3-2, Erskine looked like a very good bet to knock the playoff at 3-3 and sent it into its final game tomorrow. But Charlie Dressen, the Brooklyn manager, was ready to about the works.

"If he's needed, Preacher Roe will be ready to relieve," he said last night. "I would like to have him start the seventh game, but I won't be saving anybody when these games are playing out the way they are now. I worked with him only three days, not long ago, thinking about this, and the Preach looked all right."

There was much opinion that the Yankees had more to worry about today than the Dodgers had. Few who watched Erskine throttle the champs two days ago and who saw what angry, humiliated athletes there were later in the dressing room could imagine that they would give the handsome right-hander trouble. But they could easily imagine the Brooks' right-handed power taking great chunks out of Ford again.

Ford lasted only one inning when he started the fourth inning at Ebbets Field.

Dressen had his right-handed explosives planted again today, with Jackie Robinson hitting third and Roy Campanella fourth. Duke Snider, left-handed hitter, was down in the sixth slot, below Gil Hodges, Charlie was very confident that his right-hand array would knock Ford loose.

Six home runs were hit in all yesterday, but there is some doubt that any one of them would have been a home run in Yankee Stadium, where there is room for balls to travel in left field. The guess here is that five would have been long outs at the stadium and that Mickey Mantle's grand slammer in the third inning would have been a triple over Jackie Robinson's head.

Yesterday's game was a sloppy contest. Each club made several errors. The Yankees scored five times in the third inning after they should have been out and Johnny Podres, the juvenile who started pitching for the Dodgers, should have been out of trouble.

With two Yanks away, Podres got Collins, the first baseman, to hit a ball sharply down the right line. Gil Hodges muffed it beautifully, letting a run across. This appeared to ruffle the Dodger pitcher. He proceeded to hit the next batter and walked the bases full.

Dressen replaced him with temperamental Russ Meyer, who had been warming up since the game began. The bases were loaded. There stood Meyer and there stood Mantle, the latter not having been able to hit a baseball in the most recent attempts.

Meyer came in overhand with his first pitch. Mantle, who had been hit on his throwing hand and sorely hurt in pre-game batting practice, knocked it far and away into the upper deck in left field. That made the score 5-1, and what ever happened after that was pretty much lost in the shuffle.

By the end of the seventh inning the Yanks were leading 9-2, partly on the strength of Billy Martin's two-run homer in that chapter. They were 10-2 by the time the Dodgers finally laid into Jim McDonald for four runs in the last of the eighth, mainly on Billy Cox's three-run, line-drive homer just over the left barrier. The point had been reached where there was some surprise that a ball remained inside the bandbox park.

What little drama there was in the one-sided contest was saved for the last of the ninth. Junior Gilliam led it off with another punch over the left railing, leaving the Dodgers only four runs in arrears. Peevce Reese followed with a fly out to left, but Snider punched a clean single to right.

That brought Casey Stengel bowlegging it out from the bench and waving toward the Yankee bullpen. In came Allie Reynolds to pitch to Jackie Robinson, and two more Yank pitchers promptly began warming up. Nobody knew, actually, whether Allie's back, badly bent in the first game, had recovered sufficiently for him to pitch.

Turned out it had. The Chief missed a couple outside, and then came in with one that Robby Marlin punched viciously toward Billy Martin at second. Billy got right down on the ground to take it, loosed to Phil Ruto to start over.

Montreal Leads in Little Series

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Royals can increase their Little World Series lead to three games tonight as they battle the Kansas City Blues.

The International League champions lead Kansas City, the American Association playoff winner, 2-0 in the best-of-seven series. Yesterday's scheduled game was postponed because of rain.

How much of a sage the Chicago White Sox manager proved to be is attested by the New York Yankees' power demonstration yesterday. Led by Mickey Mantle's grand slam homer off reliever Russ Meyer, the Yankees blasted four circuit swats over the short fences to account for eight of their runs in an 11-7 triumph.

"Don't let those Dodger homers fool you," Richards had said when someone mentioned that Brooklyn's fence-busters, paced by Roy Campanella and Duke Snider, had walloped 200 home runs, 112 at Ebbets Field. "Sure they can hit but that ball park is a great help to them."

"Wait until those Yankees get into that cracker box they call a ball park. Those Yankee right-handers, led by Mickey Mantle and Gil McDougald, will hit those left-field seats so hard they'll be picking up the splinters on Borough Hall."

Gene Woodling opened the game with a home run off starter Johnny Podres. Mantle hit his grand slammer in the third. Billy Martin reached the seats with a mate aboard in the seventh off Meyer and McDougald closed out the homer parade in the ninth off Joe Black. All homers but Woodling's were hit into leftfield. Press box observers agreed not one would have been a home had the game been played at Yankee Stadium.

McDougald, in fact, discounted his homer this way: "Don't give me any credit for that one," he said. "Anybody can hit a home run in this band box."

Even Mantle was a mite disappointed despite his grand slammer. "I should have had more than just one homer," he said. "A guy should not be satisfied with just one game in this park."

Maybe it is a blessing in disguise for Brooklyn to have to play the final two games of the Series at Yankee Stadium.

The first women's medical school in America was organized in Boston in 1849 by Samuel Gregory. It had 12 pupils and was known as the Boston Female Medical School.

For the first time since the 50th World Series started there was real excitement in the Yankee dressing room.

"Pretty good," Manager Casey Stengel muttered as he warmed through the crowd. Then, a few minutes later, he confessed he felt optimistic about the outcome of the series.

"We're going back to our own park now, and that should be an advantage. Last year we had to play the last two here at Ebbets Field. And we were behind, 3-2, instead ahead, 3-2, so you'd have to say our chances are better."

But before naming today's pitcher he consulted pitching coach Jim Turner. Finally, after a brief huddle, Casey shouted "Ford."

"First day we've hit," he said. "McDonald did a real good job. Jim McDonald was the Yankee pitcher most of the way. He fielded his position good, and saved us some trouble. Reynolds (Allie Reynolds) got the Dodgers out on a double play in the ninth had good stuff. Maybe he'll come in handy tomorrow or the next day."

Reynolds, who injured his back in the first game, said, "I can still feel it." But he added he probably could go a couple of innings today and tomorrow, if necessary.

Mickey Mantle, whose third inning bases-loaded homer broke the game wide open, said he hit "a belt high curve—the same kind of a ball they were throwing me the other day." He referred to Friday, when he fanned four times on Carl Erskine's pitches.

Over in the Dodgers' dressing room, Russ Meyer agreed with Mantle as to the kind of pitcher hit the young Yankee center fielder bit. "It was one of my best pitches," said Meyer. "Erskine had been telling me—and we had been hitting it. Mantle had been running away from the pitches. So I fed him a low overhead curve—a beauty. Just the kind Carl was giving him Friday. It was a low one and a good breaker. But this time he stepped into it like he was mad at somebody and murdered it."

They knocked the stuffing out of my best pitches. What can you do in a case like that?" Charlie Dressen didn't hesitate in naming his pitcher for the sixth game.

"Our backs to the wall again and it's up to Erskine," he said. "He's pitched with two days rest before and done okay."

Erskine himself said he welcomed the opportunity to face the Yanks for the third time but added soberly: "I haven't pitched with two days rest this year and I don't know how good my stuff will be. This is sure I think I can do as well in Yankee Stadium as in Ebbets Field. I don't think a ball park means anything to a pitcher."

Double play and the game was loosed to Phil Ruto to start over.

Prediction by Richards Has Proved True

By JOE REICHLER

Henderson Takes on Stout A&M

Southern States with an Arkansas intercollegiate conference victory to balance its conference-quarter loss, will rest this week and while Henderson tries its strength against Arkansas A&M.

Navy Again Sets New Speed Record

By JACK STEVENSON
THERMAL, Calif. (AP)—Striking an average of 283.4 mph, the Navy's new F4D Skyray interceptor has won back the world's measured course record for the United States and now will be given further tests at sea.

Lt. Cmdr. James B. Verdin, 35, youthful looking combat hero of both World War II and Korea, piloted the jet flying wing-type plane to the new record Saturday about 130 feet above the hot sands along Southern California's Salton Sea.

On each of his four arrow-straight passes over the 3.06-mile (11,863 mile) course, Verdin averaged each mile in less than five seconds. His fastest pass—261.414 mph—was only 31 less than the speed of sound along the course, where the mercury read 145.5 degrees. Some speed varies with temperature and altitude.

Verdin and the Skyray crashed the 737.8 mph record set by British.

SS Undergoing a Thorough Inspection

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's largest insurance system is getting a new and close inspection, under new management.

The system is the government's social security program of retirement and death benefits, aimed eventually at covering almost all American workers.

The Democrats, who created it, have been pushing it along for 10 years. It became bigger and bigger, picking up more and more momentum in the same general direction, like an incredibly vast snowball rolling downhill.

Now the Republicans have taken over the administration and Congress. Secretary of Welfare Hooty has called in 12 consultants to take a new look.

And on Capitol Hill, Rep. Carl Curtis (R-Neb.) who has been openly dubious about the program for years, is heading a broad study by a special House Ways and Means subcommittee.

Few government programs mean so much to so many. More than 65 million workers already are in the program. They expect retirement benefits when they reach 65, or payments to their families if they die before 65.

Eventually, in the year 2030, estimates are that the program would cover a minimum of 114 million persons or a maximum of 182 millions.

By that time, benefit payments are estimated to run at $3 to $22 billion dollars a year.

The new inspection is designed to show that the present program is sound, or whether that snowball is likely to smash up somewhere on the way down the hill.

The inspectors want to know if they should dismantle the present program and start off again on a new one.

"They want to know whether they should push that snowball even faster in the same direction, or judge it over a bit in this direction or that.

Both Curtis and Eisenhower administration spokesmen say they present any information that they are out to wreck or destroy social security. They say they just want to make sure, if they can, that the system for protecting the aged is sound, adequate, and fair.

Thus these basic principles behind the present system are up for study.

It is called contributory. That is, only persons who have paid into the system are eligible for benefits. Generally, the more you pay in, the more you receive. But there are some important exceptions.

It is self-supporting. All the benefits are to be paid from special, earmarked taxes levied for that single purpose and kept in a separate fund. It is not even included in the regular federal budget.

It is based on a level premium. The tax steps up at five-year intervals, from the present 1 percent of payrolls up to $3,000, to 6½ percent in 1970. But then it is due to remain constant, although Congress has the right to change it any time.

It is based on a trust fund. The social premium is expected to produce far more income than actually needed for many years, building up a big surplus or trust fund. Interest from this fund then is expected to bridge the gap when payments climb above tax income.

For contrast, under pay-as-you-go system, taxes would be fixed each year, to pay for that particular year's benefits.

It has no need test. You can qualify for benefits if you have worked long enough under the program, whether you have a million dollars or a penny.

It is a retirement plan, not an annuity. You don't get a pension automatically at age 65, even if eligible. You have to retire first. You are considered retired if you earn less than $75 a month in employment covered by the program.

Almost all these basic principles have been challenged, by one source or another.

Many in Warning to State AFL

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—AFL President George Meany has warned Arkansas Federation of Labor officials, "If you can't have an honest federation, you'll have no federation."

Meany, ending a 6-day vacation in Hot Springs with other top national AFL officials, said he had investigated complaints that the Arkansas Federation had been mismanaged. In a conference with state labor leaders here Saturday, he warned against a union practice of paying per capita taxes on only part of their members, keeping the rest in local treasuries.
